Salaries of five heads of departments of Fulton county were reduced by 10 per cent and voluntary cuts of $2,000 a year each in the salaries of the solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta and the judge of the same court were accepted Monday at a special meeting of the county board of commissioners. The board met to fix departmental heads' salaries for the year 1932. The cut represents saving of $45,000 a year.

The budgets of the separate departments were not fixed Monday but deferred until the regular board meeting Wednesday. It was indicated, however, that a blanket 10 per cent cut may be expected.

Those Affected.

The cuts of 10 per cent were made to the following department heads:

Clerk of superior court, sheriff, ordinary, tax collector and tax receiver. Each has been receiving approximately $10,000 per annum, or $833.33 per month.

The cut of 10 per cent reduces their salaries to $8,000 per month, effective Jan. 1.

Others affected are J. W. Simons, clerk; J. C. Lowry, sheriff; Thomas H. Jeffries, ordinary; W. S. Richardson, tax collector; and Edwin Johnson, tax receiver.

The salary of Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, which is $1,000 a month, or $83.33 per week, will be reduced by the board Monday as his salary is fixed by law. Hughes Roberts, attorney to handle condemned automobiles, was not touched either, as he has already been given a cut, it was said.

His salary is $116.66 a month.

Although he may be fatally wounded, Lieutenant Carroll was conscious following the shooting, and told fellow officers of the identity of his attacker. Officers said that they learned that Stokes, who was paroled recently after serving time for burglary, had two suitcases full of clothes taken from the home of Mr. Young on Cascade road, and that Lieutenant Carroll was working on the case when shot.

Officer Badly Injured.

At the hospital, it was said that the bullet entered Lieutenant Carroll's throat, ranging down through the lung and cutting the nerves of his left arm. The bullet is in Carroll's back just under the skin, but physicians feared to remove it because of his critical condition. Lieutenant Carroll also has a fracture of the skull near the right temple, where he was struck with the butt of the pistol. He was severely cut about the neck, head and face.

'SLAVERY' CHARGED TO CONTRACTORS

A. F. of L. Claims "Cold-Blooded Brutality" in Mississippi Camps.

GULFPORT, Miss., Nov. 30.—(AP) Charges of "hideous slavery" and "cold-blooded brutality" in contractors' camps in the Vicksburg area of the Mississippi river levee system, for which approximately 30 contractors "apparently are directly or indirectly culpable," were made here today by Thomas E. Carroll, Washington, D. C., and Holt Ross, New Orleans, general representatives of the American Federation of Labor.

They came here at the conclusion of a survey of several weeks along the levees of the states of Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi. The statement of the two labor leaders followed closely the text of their written report to President William Green, of the labor federation.

More than 4,000 laborers, the majority of them "helpless" heroes, were described as being enmeshed in a tangle of peonage, brutality and extortion under the system employed by contractors and sub-contractors working their gangs from Rosedale, Miss., to Natchez.

Numerous cases were cited of men having been flogged mercilessly with pine logs, and in some cases other forms of punishment to have been struck down by blows on the head from revolver butts.

Laborers injured in the performance of duty, through no fault of their own, not only have been given no compensation for their injuries, but in many cases have not been paid for lost time, the statement recited.

Workers for contractors in many camps runs as low as 75 cents a day for working periods between 12 to 18 hours long, the labor officials said, and no overtime has been paid in many camps for work in excess of 12 hours a day.

Workers in camps, which were described as comparable only to camps and barracks provided for forced and indentured labor of Russia, were forced to purchase food from contractors' commissaries, where exorbitant prices were charged, the statement declared, and no outside merchants were permitted to vend their merchandise in the camps.

Double Crop of Oats in Year Produced by Single Planting

Oats, beans, oats and still more oats is the unusual one-year experience of a Dallas (Ga.) farmer, who, on a one-acre tract of land, finds a fourth crop coming up as the result of only three plantings.

In due time the beans grew and were harvested, and after that, with a second sowing of oats, the grain made its reappearance and reached a mature fruition.

In terms of profitable farming, Mr. Adair points out that from the original 60 bushels of oats he netted $36. Seventy-five bushels of beans brought $56.25, or a total of $92.25 from the one acre.

And now, for the third time in a year the land has been ploughed over and oats planted for the second time. The new crop already is about 10 inches high and will be harvested next June, Mr. Adair says.

2 COLLEGES WIN AWARDS FOR STOCK

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Dozens of four-footed pure breeds were decorated with blue ribbons today, the third of the International Livestock Exposition.

In fat Berkshires, Purdue University had the best individual barrow, with Oklahoma A. & M. College getting the reserve ribbon, while the Oklahoma Aggies had the champion sow.

Lieutenant Hanson was detailed to the expedition by the secretary of the navy, explained that one of the principal achievements of the radio men in the Byrd camp was the measurement of the Keckley-Heard side. Later, he reflected, radio saves. The radio men obtain information on the action of the layer in prolonged darkness during the antarctic winter, he said.

Communication with civilization had to be maintained by the length of a single, thin-wire, wave-length.

Lieutenant Hanson said: He told of the tremendous amount of radio equipment carried by the expedition, and spoke of the communication between the plane flying over the south pole and the camp.

Information gained through the radio experiments will be useful in further polar explorations such as are now planned by Commander Byrd.

HENRY WALTERS DIES IN NEW YORK

Organizer of Atlantic Coast Line Was Among South's Wealthiest.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP) Henry Walters, once described as the wealthiest man of the south, died at his New York home today at the age of 83.

He ranked with Harriman, Hill, Morgan and Schiff as a builder of railroads, and was still active as chairman of the board of the Atlantic Coast Line and of the Louisville & Nashville roads.

He was ill only a few days when death came at 4 a.m. His widow survives.

Mr. Walters was known outside the railroad world as a yachtsman and art collector. The yacht Harada belonged to him and he was a member of the syndicate organized to build the America cup defender.

He maintained offices in New York, Wilmington, N. C. and Baltimore, Md. The latter place was his regular residence.

Private funeral services will be held at the New York home at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Burial will be in Greenmount cemetery, Baltimore, in the afternoon.

Pioneer of A. C. L.

Mr. Walters' father was one of the organizers of the Atlantic Coast Line company. Mr. Walters began his own railroad career as an engineer for the Valley road in Virginia after studying at Georgetown University, the Lawrence Scientific school and in Paris.

He was with the Valley road for only a brief period. He then became a member of the operating superintendents' staff on the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati railroad.

Soon after going with the Atlantic Coast Line, he became general manager and merged it with the Plant System of Florida. He further expanded the road by purchasing control of the Louisville & Nashville roads.

He founded and stocked the Walters gallery in Baltimore. The gallery contains the works of many well-known artists, including a self-portrait by Rafael and a supposed self-portrait by Michelangelo. On certain days he admitted the public for a fee, which he donated to charity.

In 1922 he married the widow of E. Pembroke Jones, an old friend. Before their marriage to Jones, she was Sarah W. Green, of Wilmington, N. C. and well known in southern society.

Among South's Wealthiest.

A survey made ten years ago by the Wall Street Journal rated Mr. Walters the wealthiest man in the south.

He was extremely reticent regarding his career and except for a brief sketch once supplied to a biographical publication, few details of his activities became public. "Wealth of the World" was the title of a photograph that had been taken of him since he was four years old.

In one of his rare public statements Mr. Walters said of his art collection: "I have had my hope to make it a thoroughly rounded collection which would give to the observer an understanding of the whole history of the world artistic developments. It has a few gaps but not many."

Nearly 30 years ago Mr. Walters purchased in Rome, Italy, the art collection of the late R. R. Stetson, and obtained consent of the Italian government to bring the treasures to this country. This collection alone represents an investment of $1,000,000.

Head of Marines Protests Favor Shown Naval Officers

General Fuller Also Praised Work of 'Leathernecks' at Home and Abroad in Annual Report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP) General Fuller also praised work of naval officers against discrimination in favor of naval officers in the question of relative rank was expressed today by Major General Ben H. Fuller, commanding officer of the corps.

After elaborating in his annual report on the "devil dogs" during the past fiscal year, General Fuller added:

"The officers of the marine corps feel very deeply the discrimination against them in their relative rank with the officers of the corresponding rank in service in the navy and a prompt adjustment of this condition is most urgently needed."

It was less than a week ago that Brigadier General Smedley D. Butler charged in a magazine article that the navy was "swallowing the admirals."

Washington, to naval academy graduates had prevented his appointment as commandant and prompted his retirement from the corps.

For economy, said General Fuller, enlisted men were curtailed, with a net loss of 586 men for the fiscal year, resulting in a saving of $17,759. Since the end of the fiscal year, further reductions to 16,008 have occurred.

The commandant praised the work of the marines serving at home, on ships and in foreign countries. The foreign service, particularly in Nicaragua, was commanded and tribute was paid to the men who during the Managua earthquake in March, "worn out and exhausted as they were by this strenuous duty . . . performed excellent and commendable work by turning to tasks at hand, while whole-hearted in a magnificent showing in fortitude, co-operation and initiative."

Eleven officers and enlisted men were killed and four dead of wounds received in action in Nicaragua during the year. Complete withdrawal of marines from that country in 1932 has been decided upon by the United States.

In China and in Haiti the marines also are serving.

The fourth brigade of 63 officers and 1,145 men is at Shanghai as a continued measure of protection of American lives and interests against the hazards incident to the disturbed political conditions and the resultant strife still existing in that unfortunate country."

Likewise in Haiti the first brigade, with 39 officers and 635 enlisted men exclusive of 118 serving with the local guards was reported maintained "in a state of preparedness to meet any situation likely to arise."

Fuller reiterated the need for a thoroughly trained and efficient reserve force as the "initial step toward preparedness in the event of a major national emergency. For this, he said, peace-time strength of the marine corps is inadequate."

The work of planes in Nicaragua, and the relief work during the Nicarguan earthquake and Santo Domingo hurricane was cited as proving aviation "an indispensable arm to an expeditionary force."

FIGHT IS REVIVED FOR FULTON BONDS

School Issue of $700,000
To Be Sought by County Heads.

New efforts for a successful school bond election for Fulton county schools were inaugurated Monday afternoon at a meeting of all Fulton county school principals and presidents of Parent-Teacher Associations, held in the courtroom of Judge G. H. Howard.

The meeting met for the purpose of discussing plans for assistance in revising the voters' list and for obtaining necessary signatures of 25 per cent of the registered voters to expedite the election, called. Superintendent Jere A. Wells gave all present copies of the voter's lists in their respective districts to have them checked on information therein, in an effort to get the list purged.

He stated that the election for $500,000 worth of school bonds failed last May by 170 votes, which were required to obtain a majority of registered voters. He pointed out that the majority of the votes cast were in favor of the bonds. The new bond issue sought is $700,000.

He said, as Milton and Campbell counties will be coming in as part of Fulton on January 1 and some building is needed in the two counties. It is planned, if necessary 25 per cent of the voter's signatures can be obtained to have the election called on the same day with the county primaries next March.

J. L. HOUSTON CASE PUT UP TO COURTS

After hearing arguments on both sides Monday, Governor Richard B. Russell decided that any move to oust J. L. Houston, State tax commissioner, is a matter for the courts.

Early commissioners charged that Houston was approximately $8,000 short in his accounts, according to the audit. The board suspended the official but he declined to vacate the office.

Houston contended that an audit made by himself and another by his bonding company showed that he was not short the $8,000 but that a misunderstanding arose over the system of bookkeeping. The governor informed the commissioners that a surety bond of $40,000 was being given to cover the alleged shortage and that any action to remove Houston should be made in the courts.

Entrants in Proverb Contest Urged To Recheck Answers

Time That Remains Before Deadline Should Be Devoted To Seeking Correct Solutions.

BY THE PROVERB CONTEST EDITOR.

The first day of December finds the Constitution's $2,300 old saying contest but one week removed from the final deadline. Contestants, however, should bear this important point in mind: That, although time is fleeting, there's no need to be in a hurry about submitting sets of pictures and answers. Sets that are submitted next Monday will receive the same consideration as those turned in earlier.

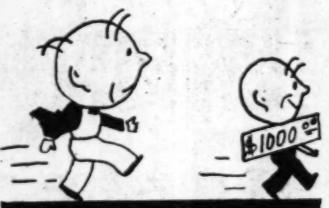

Proverb players who aren't certain of any of their answers should make every minute before the deadline count. Now is the time to reconsider unreasonable or doubtful answers, and change them. After December 7 at midnight no changes can be made.

Players who decide to submit second or additional sets of pictures and answers can easily and promptly obtain all of the back pictures by calling at the office of The Constitution, or by mail. The pictures will be kept on hand through next Monday.

Even at this late hour, contestants are requesting copies of "Proverbs of All Ages." This unique publication sums up the wisdom of the world in proverbs, and includes the correct answers for all of the eighty pictures.

"Proverbs of All Ages" can be had for 50 cents by calling at the office of The Constitution—or by mail for 54 cents.

Miss Inez Lanson, of Smyrna, Ga., has chased down and cornered many an elusive correct answer by persevering. Houston she sent the old P. E. This interesting pen drawing of a contestant in close pursuit of the $1,000 first prize:

"Perseverance brings success."

SUTTON PAYS TRIBUTE TO LATE HOKE SMITH

Systematic Burglary Business Believed Broken Up. Stolen Goods Found.

Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta public schools, Monday paid the following tribute to the late Hoke Smith, who formerly was a member of the Atlanta board of education and who served as its president:

"In the death of Honorable Hoke Smith, the cause of education in America has lost one of its staunchest supporters and firmest friends.

"Hoke Smith was an educator by birth. His father was the founder of one of the colleges of The University of Georgia, who was a teacher who did not neglect his own children. He implanted in the son the desire for education for the masses. No man ever felt this responsibility more keenly. Hoke Smith realized that not only the social and intellectual interests but the material interests of the nation depend upon the dissemination of culture to the masses. For this reason, he decided that the federal government should assist in supporting training for those already employed in the vocations and for the great agricultural districts of the nation. With this in mind, he introduced and passed the Smith-Hughes measure which is giving additional training through opportunity schools, extension work, and night classes to the great masses of the employed in the cities and to tens of thousands of boys and girls on the farms."

"I shall never forget the interest he displayed in the affairs of the National Education Association convention to Atlanta. Though scarcely able to be out, he attended every committee meeting and was vitally interested in every detail."

"Hoke Smith's life was a contribution to the cause of education and the influence of that life as enacted into law will be a means of realizing of their ambitions in life for millions of the youth of our nation."

REORGANIZATION WORK OF RUSSELL IS LAUDED

Praise for the "deliberate and systematic" way in which Governor Russell is setting the reorganized machinery of the government in motion under the 1931 law was voiced here Monday by Representative H. B. Edwards, of Lowndes county.

Edwards was a member of the special legislative committee which drafted the reorganization bill and was instrumental in getting it passed. He was at the capitol in conference with the governor Monday.

"While legal business brought me to the capital today, the visit affords me an opportunity to pay my respects to the officials in several departments," he said.

"I am very much gratified to find there is a general spirit of co-operation with the purposes of the reorganization bill passed last summer. I am going to venture the prediction that in a reasonably short time the people of the state, as well as the officials, will be fully convinced that this law will give good reason to realize the justification of this law, and will appreciate the fact that it is the most far-reaching-looking piece of legislation in a generation."

"Before the end of another year the reorganization bill will fully justify itself in improved efficiency and the reduction of state expenses and the state government generally. Following betterment in efficiency will naturally come a greater economy in expenditures."

"Particularly is there reason for gratification to Georgians in the deliberate and serious manner in which Governor Russell is going about setting the reorganization machinery of the government in motion under this new law, and its companion measure, the new budget law."

"I am enjoying the contest very much. Mrs. W. A. C., Tallapoosa, Georgia."

Thank You.

"I have enjoyed the contest so much! Thank you and Miss Alter for such a depression lifter. Mrs. A. J. P., Woodbury, Ga."

PROGRESS SHOWN IN EMPLOYMENT

A surplus of skilled and unskilled labor continues to exist throughout the state, despite resumption of operation in many industries, a survey of conditions for October, made through the office of Otto F. Baden, state employment director, showed Monday. Work has been given to many in peanut-shelling plants, oil mills and pecan harvesting, the reports says.

Construction work amounting to $475,000 in August has afforded employment to a number of men, and many shrub pruning and trimming plants at Brunswick gave jobs to others, as did dredging work and the unloading of ship cargoes. In Columbus and Fort Benning, work was provided for approximately 500 men by building program costing $650,000. Part-time work in mills and lumber yards was plentiful, reflecting the situation there, the reports says. Macon's program includes a $30,000 warehouse, a $75,000 hotel addition, and a $40,000 hotel repair project.

FOG-LADEN SKIES TO CLEAR TODAY

Air Traffic Still Hampered, But Rains Will Bring Relief.

Skies laden with fog, haze or mist crippled airplane traffic in the southeast Monday, but relief was predicted by today, with the expected arrival of cooler weather.

Rain which began with a light sprinkle early Monday afternoon is scheduled to continue intermittently all of today, according to C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist. The official forecast for today reads "Occasional rain with cooler temperatures." There will be no more dense fog in Atlanta, von Herrmann said, but there is a slight possibility for a light haze early this morning. The temperature Monday ranged between 58 and 72 degrees.

Cloudy weather was predicted for most southern states today, with showers expected in numerous sections of Dixie. Weather men said they believed the rain and cooler weather would do much to clear the skies that have been overcast and hazy around Atlanta Beach, Fla., Saturday until Monday morning. The flying colonel got away Monday morning, and flew through many skies in northern Florida and south Georgia into the Carolinas on his way to New York. After a short stay at Aberdeen (Md.), proving ground, he took a train to New York, landing there at 9:45 p.m. (E. S. T.).

Most regularly scheduled planes out of Atlanta were grounded Monday, but a mail plane got off to Florida and a passenger plane to Florida. Both were passenger hours late, however. The American Airways plane from Atlanta to Birmingham and New Orleans got off a few hours late Monday morning.

The skies were reported clearing somewhat in the south, however.

An area of occasional rains was reported extending with the windshift line from western Virginia southwestward to southern Alabama through the center of the south. The rain areas are expected to continue.

Rains were reported Monday in the mountains of western Virginia, and in Knoxville and Chattanooga, Tenn., and at Adairsville, Ga., Meridian, Miss., and Mobile, Ala.

Cloudy and cooler weather Tuesday was predicted for parts of Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Texas. Showers were expected in parts of Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Virginia, Kentucky, Alabama and Texas. No real cold weather is expected in Georgia, although slightly lower temperatures were predicted.

BIRMINGHAM FOG LIFTS.

BUT RAINFALL CONTINUES

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 30.—(P)—For smoke which halted air traffic over Alabama last week had lifted today but general rains continued to hamper operation of aircraft.

American Airways reported mail planes were operating but passenger planes still were earth bound. The first two mail planes arrived behind schedule this morning and took off after several minutes delay. One passenger plane from Dallas was turned back at Jackson, Miss., after encountering heavy weather.

The Goodyear Blimp, Reliance, landed at Gadsden at 1 p.m. in the rain, after a delayed trip from Akron, Ohio, and alighted in a hangar to await more favorable weather conditions before continuing its flight to St. Petersburg, Fla.

On the Air Today

Arthur Jarrett, New York singer who acquired a vast following through his broadcasts over the Columbia network from Chicago, has returned to Manhattan. His lyric tenor voice will be heard in five programs weekly over the WGST and Columbia network with Freddie Rich's orchestra providing the accompaniment.

Jarrett will continue in his Monday, Wednesday and Friday broadcasts at 2:30 p.m. and, in addition, will have two evening broadcasts weekly. These will be presented every Tuesday at 5:15 p.m., beginning today and every Saturday at 5 p.m. to day.

Eight months ago Jarrett took a $200-a-week position with Ted Weems' orchestra to embark on his own as a vocalist for only $50. The move was a success, and his popularity has led him to fame.

Jarrett long has been associated with the entertainment field. His father, Arthur Jarrett Sr., played juvenile leads in William Faversham's company, while his mother was one of the leading female stars. At the age of 5, Art Jr. made his stage debut as the Indian child in the "Squaw Man."

Subsequently, he sang in the church choir at the Franklin School for Girls in New York, and was a student in the school of America for Music. Pirie-Beyea during the American School of the Air program to be broadcast from 1:30 to 2 p.m. today over WGST and 73 stations of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Madame Pirie-Beyea has traveled extensively through Russia and before the war was presented to the czar and czarina. She met many members of the Russian nobility when she was a child and has enjoyed the czar's palace, developing a broad knowledge of Russian life prior to the war.

Recently she went back to Russia and studied conditions there under the strict regime. During her stay she will compare former with present conditions and point out what effect the changes have had on the lives of the people.

During the program a balalaika orchestra, under the direction of Peter Bilo, will play Russian dances, and folk songs will be sung.

Edna May Cooper To Speak Tonight On Aerial Exploits

What screen stars and women air pilots are doing and what they enjoy as fruits of their labors and perils will be told in fascinating detail by Edna May Cooper in a lecture at 8 o'clock tonight on the roof garden of the Ansley hotel. Miss Cooper is a prominent member of Hallie's Club, a soloist and holds the women's record for endurance flying, having kept her plane aloft for five days last January at Los Angeles.

The event is under the auspices of American Legion Auxiliary No. 1, with Mrs. Arthur Harwood as chairman of the committee in charge. Mrs. Harry E. Stoy, president of the auxiliary and Mrs. Fred A. Scheer, vice-president and chairman of the membership committee, are assisting. Mrs. Hazzard.

Miss Cooper is in Atlanta en route to Hollywood where she is to receive the "Merit Aeronautique" for her famous endurance flight.

During the program a balalaika orchestra, under the direction of Peter Bilo, will play Russian dances, and folk songs will be sung.

N. Y. COURT HOLDS ATLANTA WOMAN Was "Human Being"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(P)—George Washington was described to the court as "a human being" by Professor Albert Bushnell Hart in replying to charges that a pamphlet on Washington he prepared was erroneous and libelous.

Dumont Smith, Hutchinson, Kas., attorney and chairman of the American Bar Association, had criticized the pamphlet, which was prepared by the George Washington bicentennial committee.

He had asserted a story, attributed to John H. Blake, who said that "when the government had learned all the facts this case will have an entirely different aspect." Arrested in Atlanta, Mrs. Mitchell waived a preliminary hearing here recently and was ordered to give bond for her appearance in New York. Bill Mitchell, of Atlanta, and the mother of two children who are with her at the Hotel Lincoln in New York, as investigators claimed. She also denied that she had claimed any business association with Senator William E. Borah.

E. S. T. Benefits to Children Stressed by Leading Doctors

Specialists Point Out Value of Additional Ultra-Violet Rays To Be Gained.

When Atlanta parents go to the polls Wednesday to vote on the proposal to change the city's time from central to eastern standard time, they will cast their votes with the knowledge that leading child specialists favor the proposed change as providing distinct health benefits to children of all ages.

School children, it was pointed out, are losing almost an hour of health-giving sun because of the manner in which the city's time causes them to operate. To those specialists who propose the valuable violet rays disseminated by the sun, the loss could be easily averted by a change from central to eastern time. Such a change, it was emphasized, would enable children here to get out of classes earlier in the afternoon, thus saving time, putting Atlanta two hours behind the opening of the market.

"I approve very strongly of the proposed change," Dr. James A. Ward, noted baby doctor, said Monday afternoon. "It undoubtedly would help children realize the benefits of the essential violet rays in the sun-shine of early afternoon by letting them out of school practically an hour earlier and thus giving them more time in which to play.

In the late spring and early fall, particularly during the rays of the sun are very abundant and beneficial to the normal growth, development and health of child life. At all times these rays are more beneficial between the hours of 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. For that reason I certainly approve the suggested change."

Dr. G. C. McAviley, another prominent child specialist, likewise endorsed the proposal. "It should be made plain to the Calling on Atlantans to make the change in the interest of progress, Clarence E. Mason, native Georgia boy who is now a resident of New York, but has large business connections south and elsewhere throughout the change.

Armond May, manufacturer, advised the change in a lengthy letter and thus joined hundreds of other

RICHMOND LEADERS URGE TIME CHANGE

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 30.—William H. Schwarzschild, prominent banker and president of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, and Ross Walker, Richmond stock-broker, Monday urged Atlanta from every point of view—financial, trade or otherwise—to adopt eastern time in Wednesday's election.

"I have frequently sought communication with Atlanta and find the present schedule a great handicap," said Schwarzschild.

"Fortunately I want Atlanta information before the market opens and find Atlanta hasn't yet got down to work," Walker asserted.

"The situation is even worse when New York adopts daylight saving time, putting Atlanta two hours behind the opening of the market."

Leading Atlantans who have stated their advantages so forcefully, including one or two minor groups and interests, prompted by selfish motives, have advanced arguments against changing the time for the benefit of the people," West said. "But election day approaches with every opposing argument proved fallacious or even ridiculous. I predict an overwhelming vote for progress in Wednesday's balloting."

Ward's statement:

"I have a suggestion I would like to make in connection with the eastern time campaign. I am much interested in seeing the eastern time go through because it will bring many things for Atlanta business, and Atlanta people. The suggestion is this:

"Would not the voters of Atlanta be interested in knowing approximately, in dollars and cents, the saving they would make, annually, in the cost of electric current consumption by reason of the establishment of eastern time?"

The average householder probably consumes current in quantity from 5 o'clock until 11 o'clock, or six hours, central time. If eastern time is established, his electric current consumption would be from 6 o'clock until 11 o'clock, or five hours.

"Also, eastern time should permit the city to step up to some extent, the number of street lights it is able to burn now, without stepping up the cost."

Large Answers "Yes."

Postmaster E. K. Large answered "Yes" to the two questions submitted by the eastern time campaign committee regarding Atlanta's mail under eastern time, as follows:

"After going into this matter further, we are wondering, if we should adopt eastern time, would it not enable a substantial number of your employees to finish their work each day at the same time, as well as by the clock, because our out-going mail should be ready an hour sooner each day. We realize that moving our clock up an hour will not necessarily change any of the present railroad or airplane schedules as most of these carriers, operating in and out of Atlanta, use eastern time, as far as possible, until they reach the city."

"Also, it is not a fact that regardless of the weather, per cent of the morning's delivery mail will be delayed by the second delivery, we will still receive 75 per cent of the first delivery even should we adopt eastern time, and during the course of the day, we will receive all of our mail on approximately the same schedule as at present."

School Change Assured:

"There has been quite a good deal of argument by some of the parent-teacher association groups to the effect that the adoption of eastern standard time by the people of At-

ing in homes and offices. Daylight is urged by medical men as better than artificial light. And IT COSTS MUCH LESS. Here again YOUR VOTE WILL AID HEALTH and POCKETBOOKS of yourself and fellow Atlantans.

No. 13—Opponents state, and incorrectly state, that Parent-Teacher leaders are against the time change. This statement has been proven UNTRUE. Many Parent-Teacher leaders and presidents of associations are wholeheartedly in favor and actively advocating EASTERN STANDARD TIME.

No. 14—When the businessman at the end of the afternoon wants to wire or telephone late reports to his home office or business firm in the north or east or a principal Georgia city, he is now an hour later by the clock. Under EASTERN STANDARD TIME he will be able to get those reports and orders in before the offices in Boston, Hartford, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit, Richmond, Savannah, Brunswick, Augusta, Gainesville, Macon, Waycross and all Florida cities have closed for the day.

No. 15—Atlanta food stores, groceries and meat markets will make their hours conform to the clock the same as they do now. EASTERN STANDARD TIME does not mean an added hour of work for the managers and clerks in these stores. The head of the A&P stores, the Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' Association and others connected with these stores are in favor of EASTERN STANDARD TIME as it will add an hour of daylight for their employees' recreation.

No. 16—Traffic conditions in the late afternoon will be simplified by that ADDED HOUR OF DAYLIGHT. Traffic figures show the accident peak to be late in the afternoon when business and working people leave their places of business for home, as dusk creeps upon them. An hour more of daylight lants at the polls tomorrow, December 2, would cause quite a hardship on the school children, especially the high school groups, inasmuch as they would have to get up so early in order to reach the different schools by 8:30 a.m.

"It has been announced that in the event eastern time is adopted by Atlanta, the opening of all of the schools will be changed to 9 a.m., which would allow plenty of time for all pupils to go to school."

"After an investigation, the eastern time campaign committee has found that in an effort to simplify the matter of getting the school children to school on time, without burdening traffic and to offer the school children better service, it has been recommended to the school authorities that schools open at 9 a.m. under central time.

"Mr. Smith further states that he is a truck body builder by trade and working under central time, as he now does in Atlanta, he has often wondered why he has to go to work every morning when the sun is way up there, and go to bed at 10 o'clock at night, at which time, during the winter, it is after dark."

"He heartily endorses eastern time for Atlanta and states that he is going to the polls on December 2 and do everything in his power to have eastern time adopted, for the simple reason that if anyone benefits from eastern time in Atlanta, who will go to work in the morning, at the proper time, and get off earlier in the afternoon, having one extra hour of daylight each day to go to his home and work around the house or participate in any recreational activities that he might desire."

Indian Springs Advocate:

"Expects from the eastern time campaign committee from a leading citizen of Indian Springs, Ga., expressing his views on eastern time, not only as it regards the city of Atlanta but the entire state of Georgia as well, follows:

"Picture of a married couple who desire to shop in Atlanta:

"Locally 48 miles from Atlanta in eastern time zone.

"Motor to Atlanta and arrive there at 9 a.m. and find that stores do not open until 10 eastern time.

"Wife has lot of shopping to do and both desire to attend moving picture show and get home in daylight because husband doesn't drive, at night."

"Shopping consumes five hours' time—too late to go to a moving picture because couple must start back home at 4 o'clock eastern time.

"Result, trading is done in Macon—loss to Atlanta, about $400 a year. Macon is 42 miles from home of couple."

"Adoption of eastern standard time would benefit Atlanta from both a commercial and health standpoint," Mr. Mason said. "I can't understand why every mother who has a child in school would support the change for other reasons than that the child might have one more hour of play in the sunshine."

Although a resident of New York, Mr. Mason has large and varied property interests in Atlanta and is a frequent visitor to this city. He is interested in the eastern time movement and is reported to have future purchases for more southern textile mills and to have influenced more mills in locating in this section than any other man. Mr. Mason says that while he lives in New York because it is the textile center, he spends more time here than there and is anxious to have members of his family move here.

"Atlanta does 75 per cent of its business with the east, yet it loses the best business hour, the first hour of the day. New York cannot do business with Atlanta until 10 o'clock there," Mr. Mason pointed out in showing the proposed change in time. "In the evening, if Atlanta wants to do business with New York it finds the east closed, gone for the day."

"I think the health factor is most important," Mr. Mason said. "Atlanta goes home in the dark, while with eastern standard time there would be an abundance of sunshine and recreation. If mothers don't appreciate the value of sunshine for their children, let them ask a doctor."

May's Statement:

Text of May's statement follows:

"The public is vitally interested in once and for all disposing of the question of a standard time for Atlanta.

"It is, however, necessary for the public not to be deceived as to the advantages or disadvantages.

"The bare statement that the first delivery will be delayed is most misleading, unless on the other hand, you lead me to believe that the advantages as far as mail is concerned.

"There is far greater advantage in the extra hour at night, which gives the public the ability to send their mail to the postoffice one hour earlier, which means that they will catch the earliest trains and many times save a day either through the air mail or the regular mail, which more than outweighs any possible delay in the morning."

ATLANTA, GA., DEC. 1, 1931.

ATLANTA'S TIME.

The question of whether the clocks of Atlanta will be run on eastern time or central standard time will be settled at the polls tomorrow by the voters of the city. In view of the unfortunate, and unnecessary, ceremony that has crept into the discussion of the proposed change to eastern time, it is to be hoped that the voters will turn out in sufficiently representative numbers to settle the proposal conclusively, one way or the other.

The Constitution has given full publicity to the arguments of the advocates of both eastern time and central time, believing that the people should have the benefit of the facts surrounding the proposed change. It has, however, declined to be drawn into the heated controversy which has arisen, from which no good comparable to the ill-will engendered among some of the city's most useful citizens, can be expected.

It is the belief of The Constitution that a change to eastern time would be generally beneficial in its effect.

It would put Atlanta on the same time as more than 60 per cent of the population of Georgia and of the great northern and eastern centers with which we do the bulk of our business. It would unquestion-ably be eagerly welcomed by the 1,100 national concerns doing business in Atlanta, business institutions which have been largely responsible for the city's rapid strides
as a commercial center.

From the health and recreational viewpoints the change would give an hour more of daylight to our people, while in no wise lengthening their hours of work. The setting up of the hour of school to 9 o'clock, under eastern time, would keep the schools practically on sun time and give mothers a half hour more time each morning in which to get their youngsters to their daily lessons.

It will mean a distinct saving to Atlanta homes in making fewer the hours when artificial illumination is necessary.

Our people get up, go to work and retire by the clock. The same would be true if the change to eastern time were effected. The only difference would be an added hour for outdoor pursuits or recreations and a tremendous increase in the convenience in the transaction of our business with the cities and territory in which most of our outside interests lie.

The Constitution has never failed to advocate the removal of Atlanta from the anomalous position of being on central time when many cities far to the west were on eastern time, and it hopes that the voters will ratify the proposed change at tomorrow's election.

Whatever the verdict, there should by all means be so general a participation in the voting as to give a definite expression of the desire of all the people, and thus put an end to the regrettable wrangling which has arisen over the question of the city's time.

Having succeeded in amputating
most of Manchuria from China, Japan now seems to be making eyes
at Secretary Stimson's official head.

The American Civil Liberties Union is right in form in its bitter protest against the activities of the New York police just because they saw to it no harm was done to Grandi when he was an honored visitor to the country.

MORE LIVES SNUFFED OUT.
Automobile accidents again took a terrible toll in life and limb throughout the south during the week-end—and Georgia once more led with three deaths and a score injured.

The mania for speed and the disregard for precaution which would not be thought of for a minute in any other human activity go hand in hand with the operation of automobiles in the United States as in no other civilized country in the world.

Even in the far corners of the heat automobile drivers do not attempt the recklessness that is making the highways and boulevards of America unsafe for both motorists and pedestrians.

Many American states have enacted drivers' license laws and by thus removing the mentally and physically unfit from behind the steering wheel have sharply reduced their losses from preventable accidents. Other commonwealths have gone farther and added squads of state traffic police to their forces of peace officers.

Georgia has taken neither of these, nor any other, steps to check its constantly mounting death and property toll resulting from the speedway conditions on its public thoroughfares. It is not surprising therefore, that it ranks at the top of the list of states in the matter of automobile accidents, figured on the comparative basis of the number of machines in operation within its boundaries.

The speed demon plays no favors.
It crushes out alike the lives of men, women and children—and oft-times the victims are not the worst sufferers but those who are suddenly and without warning bereft of provider and protector.

The people of every county in the state should demand that their local officers clamp the lid down on speeding and recklessness—and see to it that their legislators give full support at the next session of the general assembly to legislation of the nature which has saved thousands of lives and many millions of property in other states.

R. K. G. MATHESON.

America loses one of its outstanding educators in the death of Dr.

Kenneth G. Matheson, president of Drexel Institute, who was from 1906 to 1922 president of the Georgia School of Technology.

Erudite and distinguished, Dr.

Matheson was an executive of the highest type. His unusual gift of calm and wise management was early evidenced when he served,
soon after completing his education,
as commandant of cadets at Georgia Military Academy, and later at the University of Tennessee and at Missouri Military Academy.

Coming to Georgia Tech in 1897
as professor of English, he was named chairman of the faculty and then president. A comparatively small college when Dr. Matheson first became connected with it, Tech developed into one of the outstanding educational institutions of the country during his 18 years of wise leadership.

Many honors came to him during his full and active life. He was awarded an LL. D degree by Washington and Lee and a Sc. D. degree by the University of Pennsylvania. He was an ex-president of the Georgia Education Association and at the time of his death was president of the Pennsylvania Association of College Presidents and a trustee of Princeton Theological Seminary.

Born in South Carolina, Dr.

Matheson possessed to a marked degree the courtly manner of the old south. His unusual combination of strength of character and personal charm endeared him to his students in an unusual degree, and his death will bring sorrow to thousands of men who gained their training for the battle of life under his wise and broad-visioned tutelage.

National educators are reported as divided on the question of year-around schools, which division unquestionably does not extend to the youngsters.

With soviet plots in Poland, revolutionary movements in Hungary and royal scandals in Rumania, the dove of peace is as usual perched on an unstable perch in central Europe.

The British publisher who called Gandhi a "bluff" must have overlooked the rapier-like "comebacks" largely responsible for his having become the idol of the Indian people.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Marching as
To War.

The astonishing thing about the Hitlerites on the one hand is the way they get along; the other is the way they are both permitted to march about in large cities like Berlin and Munich and other centers of Germany, without interference by the authorities.
The government argues that so long as they march and hold demonstrations, it can keep its eye on them. When the general cutting has been in the matter of contracts, writers have been issued to writers by the six months or the year with three-month options or no options at all, according to the disposition of the studio.
Writers are now engaged for the picture
as part of retrenchment programs.

On Sundays the Hitlerites, all dressed in natty brown shirts and little round caps, march about doing the same sort of thing. Last evening, when unbroken for miles went in the Tiergarten in Berlin last Sunday. At the same time the reds were holding a demonstration in Neu-Koeln, one of the suburbs of Berlin. I saw both parades. Both maintained a strict military formation. The police had all it could do trying to keep the two parties from meeting. For it goes without saying that had they met,
there would have been a bloody clash.

It did not depend on the brown or the red boys. They were eager for the fray. A high French officer, who stayed at the same hotel with me, had his bodyguards also, but in civil clothes, of course. And afterward he had to come to the opinion that the German government wasn't at all unhappy about those parades and the strict military discipline maintained by the browns and the reds.

'Ski Girl's' Collapse Bares Strangest Human Triangle

Mistress and Wife Live Together While Man in Case Serves Term in Prison.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Nov. 30.—Myself stricken in the home of her baby's father, Miss May Gledhill, Canadian "Ski Girl" whose pictures are found on posters advertising Canada's winter sports, today in a hospital steadfastly refused to give physicians any hint of the cause of her collapse.

Her illness baffled the doctors, no less than the strange relationship revealed by the girl's collapse, baffled the entire community.

The "Ski Girl" collapsed Sunday following the visit to the home of Mrs. William Conner of two men said to have been immigration agents investigating the status of the girl.

Mrs. Conner, wife of E. A. Conner, 51, consulting engineer, in the Vermont prison serving a term for forgery, told a story of living "not unhappily" for a year in the same house with the girl, who two years ago was son to Conner, and of sharing with Miss Gledhill the love letters of Conner. She denied that her husband "had any duty" to care for the girl "her husband has been following ever since he saw her on a Montreal street in tears some years ago."

The affair is rendered even more bizarre by the fact that Mr. Conner, though religious, has from the beginning regarded her husband's affair with Miss Gledhill with tolerance, has assumed an attitude of affection toward the "other woman" and looks upon the child "as though it were my own." She places blame for the affair, however, almost wholly on her husband.

Miss Gledhill, swimmer and hockey player of note, would not tell physicians whether or not she had taken poison to all questions was "true and fine out."

The story of the affair was told mainly by Mrs. Conner at the Floral Park home today, while the baby boy frolicked on the floor. The child is called "Sonny" by Mrs. Conner and "Peel" by Miss Gledhill. The girl, who is 26, a descendant of Sir Robert Peel, the British statesman, was a very high-class engineer. Being old-fashioned, I used to keep him going right. When this girl came into his life he started downhill. I suppose he'll be in jail the rest of

Ex-Slave Gets Check For $10,197 Pension

TALLADEGA, Ala., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Sam Martin, grizzled ex-slave and Union army veteran, rubbed his eyes and gazed at a shiny new bank book.

The book was like all such articles, but it was the entry—that held Sam's eyes. It showed a credit of $10,197.

This amount represents back pension since 1892 due Sam, who was "confined" by the Federal army as it marched through Alabama in the sixties.

his life, if they press the charges against him.

"I used to think they were both equally responsible for this affair, but after reading some of the damn fool letters he sent to this girl, I think he's about 75 per cent responsible."

"I tried to stop it at the beginning. That was four years ago. My only aim now is to get the girl to go back to her parents in Westmount, a suburb of Montreal. She has a mother, father and brother there, and the detectives there know all about the case."

The engineer's wife expressed the belief that "God is punishing both of them for their wrongs."

Some time ago, in Montreal, meeting Mrs. Conner, said Miss Gledhill came to the Conner home, then at Greenwich, Conn. "I tried to reason with her," she said. "I told her she would ruin her own life. I could do nothing because of that uncontrollable desire to protect them on. I knew that if I gave them enough rope they'd hang themselves."

Later, according to Mrs. Conner, her husband and Miss Gledhill met frequently in Greenwich Village. The child was nearly a year old when Conner finally left his wife around to meet Miss Gledhill and informed her that he was the father of the infant.

"I don't believe she took poison," Mrs. Conner said, "but she's like all the rest of the girls—run around with almost nothing on. I think the cold weather made her ill."

"Mr. Conner has been going down hill ever since he met the temperamental beauty. It seems like men don't like old-fashioned people any more."

The two women had lived together with the baby at Floral Park for several months. Neighbors saw them frequently, but did not always say it was granted that the child belonged to Mrs. Conner. The place was leased, it is understood, in Miss Gledhill's name.

New Ramie Process May Revolutionize Textile Industry

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The New York Times says a method of successfully purifying ramie, the oldest and strongest vegetable fibre known, has been found and the new process may effect a revolution in the textile and affiliated industries.

The process has been perfected under the direction of Dr. Samuel S. Evelyn, chemist, electrical engineer and inventor, who has made the research his hobby for the last 25 years.

Many new products already have been woven from ramie obtained by a new and secret purifying process and the number of uses to which it may be put, according to those who have tested the new ramie, can appear to be infinite. The yarn is said to make a finer linen than flax and the pulp a paper that paper-testing machines will not tear.

Ramie, known also as China grass and belonging to the nettle family, has been used from time immemorial.

An American group of Luddites, barbers and mechanics interested in the new process because of the possibility, the Times says, "that it may save the southern cotton farmers" is now looking into the possibility of outlets for the raw material if they decide to grow the plant in their state.

AMERICAN GIVEN TERM IN IRELAND

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The first man sentenced by the new military tribunal created by the public safety act, which heard its first cases today, was a naturalized American citizen.

John McNamee of Murlough, County Mayo, who went to America in 1923, became a naturalized citizen and returned a year ago, was sentenced to six months' hard labor for being a member of Saor Eire, outlawed communist organization.

The court decreed that when he has served his time Mulgrew must be deported.

The new tribunal of three men meeting in the Collins barracks disposed of its cases rapidly. Little attention was paid to it in Dublin.

RECALL PETITIONS BARRED BY CHURCH

Rev. Huston Denies Permission Given Mangat for Meeting Tonight.

Barring circulation of recall petitions directed against James Key, because of his anti-prohibition views, and asserting that the Central Baptist church and the Central Victory mission, controlled by that church, are not sponsoring any recall drive or any other political movement, the Rev. R. C. Huston, pastor, Monday addressed a communication explaining his views to Dr. S. S. Stitt, secretary of the church.

John A. Mangat, president of the Greater Atlanta Prohibition and Law Enforcement Club, announced Saturday he had requested and obtained permission to circulate the petitions at a meeting of the Evangelistic Club, to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Wiggin room.

Mangat might be reiterated that he "thought" he had obtained permission, but due to a "misunderstanding," he probably had not.

Stitt said unequivocally Monday night that no such petitions would be circulated at the session tonight.

Mangat had asserted that the meeting tonight was the first of Mangat to be held in every ward of the city in furtherance of the recall effort, which has been in progress for the past several months.

Text of Rev. Huston's letter to Stitt follows:

"Dear Sirs—
"Your letter of yesterday's papers carried a story or news item to the effect that Mr. John A. Mangat was to have a meeting at Victory mission to recall May Key. The Evangelistic Club of my church seems to be sponsoring that meeting.

"As pastor of Central Baptist church, I understand that the church is not affiliated with the Victory mission, which is controlled by the church, is not sponsoring any recall or any other political movement.

"The Victory mission is a place to do missionary work and Dr. A. J. Moncrief Jr. will bring a message on the evils of lax enforcement of the prohibition law, and all interested in the prohibition question are invited to come out and join in a missionary work so much needed in our banking circles follows:

PENNY CLUB DAY BY DAY

BY MRS. THOS. K. GLENN

Miss Adeline Gilfillan, of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, brought 17,120 pennies to Penny Club headquarters Monday morning. This represents the pennies that the employees of the telephone company have put in their Penny Club bank since the second week in November.

When the Penny Club was first started, the telephone company appointed Miss Gilfillan to the Penny Club representative. She immediately set about organizing the employees into loyal members of the Penny Club. It wasn't so very long before the workers in all of the offices of the telephone company were staunch supporters of the Penny Club.

The 17,120 pennies that Miss Gilfillan brought to Penny Club headquarters makes the total amount of pennies that the employees of the telephone company have contributed to date $6,315. This is certainly a marvelous showing for this splendid organization and we want to congratulate Miss Gilfillan on the good work she has done in organizing the employees of her company into such loyal members of the Penny Club.

We are only asking for three pennies a day from every person in Atlanta for the benefit of the Penny Club.

There are 200 loyal women of Atlanta working for the Penny Club, office assistants and sales clerks. These women are doing this as a labor of love and not one cent of the funds of the Penny Club has ever gone for overhead. We are asking every penny contributed to us for the relief of the unemployed.

There are 3,000 boxes throughout the city for your contributions. If you prefer to give 90 cents, money or all in advance send your check to the Penny Club, 42 Edgewood avenue.

LANSBURY FAVERS PARLEY ON CURRENCY

LONDON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—George Lansbury, by right of survival the leader of the labor party, said today he should like to see the United States undertake discussions on the international currency question.

Mr. Lansbury, widely known social worker and former cabinet minister, made his suggestion to the American Correspondents' Association. He followed it up with this:

"I should like to see the United States come to Europe and say, 'Here let's take our best men and sit down and see if we can't find some better way to distribute the world's goods.'

Columbian Players Please Big Audience In 'Prince of Liars'

The Columbian Players, whose previous activities have attracted considerable interest in Atlanta, presented "The Prince of Liars," a farce by Sidney Grundy, at the Atlanta Women's Club auditorium Monday night for the building fund of the Columbian Club.

Frank Gillespie, in the leading role of Arthur Hummingbird, the hen-pecked husband, made the part quite realistic. Mrs. Mae McAlpin, an old-time favorite, played the irate mother-in-law very skillfully. Miss Irene Harvey, as Mrs. Hummingbird, was a sweet, demure and very feminine beter-half, and her lyric soprano voice delighted the audience in "Forget-Me-Not" and "Toujour." Louise Willis, a woman guest at the party, was taken to jail in connection with the shooting.

Police said three pints of liquor were found on McCartney.

FARM FOODS TARIFF PROPOSED IN BRITAIN

LONDON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Bernard Collins, Miss Charlotte Magill and Irwin Dicks also gave splendid performances. Miss Egart's "show songs" were popular as ever and she was accompanied by Mrs. Lola Allen Wallace, staff pianist for WGST.

Flowers, vegetables and similar commodities to the extent of $128,000,000 a year will be affected by new tariffs proposed in a resolution presented to the house of commons today by Sir John Gilmour, minister of agriculture.

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh landed here tonight on his return flight from the south, where he inaugurated a new air service across the Caribbean.

Colonel Lindbergh sat his plane down at 9:45 p. m., 1 hour and 25 minutes after he had taken off from Aberdeen Proving Grounds.

The colonel, flying the army plane he borrowed November 18 to fly to Miami, Fla., to take the controls of the giant new cabin plane, American Clipper, for a portion of its maiden flight from Miami to Cristobal.

He was delayed on his homeward flight by fog at Flagler Field, Fla. Leaving there today he halted at Charleston, S. C., and Richmond, Va. Before stopping in Maryland, he said, he had experienced rough weather along the entire route.

In the absence of congress, he continued, the nation has been committed to that program.

35 School Students Hurt in Auto Crash

DOTHAN, Ala., Nov. 30.—(UPI)—Thirty-five high school students were injured today in a head-on collision between a Houston county school bus and an automobile driven by Judge J. A. Carnley, of Enterprise, on a fog enshrouded highway.

Six of the pupils and O. S. Wade, driver of the bus, were brought to a hospital here for treatment by passing motorists, while several of the students were given treatment at Columbia, near here.

All of the students suffered lacerations and bruises. Judge Carnley, a former state senator and gubernatorial candidate, was uninjured.

The bus and the automobile collided two miles east of Webb, Ala., the impact toppling the bus over and wrecking it. Witnesses said both machines were traveling near the center of the highway due to poor visibility.

WIDOW WINS ACTION FOR LIFE INSURANCE

ABILENE, Texas, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Litigation between Mrs. Frank E. Whitney, Albany, and the Pilot Life Insurance Company, of Greensboro, N. C., has been settled out of court, attorneys announced yesterday. A check for $31,000, handed to Mrs. Whitney by an official of the company, covered the face value of her husband's policy, $25,000, plus a 12 per cent penalty and $3,000 in attorney fees.

Whitney died in March of this year. The insurance company resisted payment of his policy on the ground that February 1st he deliberately drove his automobile off a steep curve on Highway 1, near Albany.

PICTURE AT RIALTO GOOD SCREEN FARE

"Traveling Husband," at the Rialto, is much better entertainment than the title would lead you to believe. In fact, it is exceptionally good screen fare.

Evelyn Brent and Frank Albertson are to be given chief credit, after the author of the lines and the director. Personally, it is the clever lines that score first place in this picture.

Frinstance.

"Why did you shoot the guy?" asks the detective.

"Because," replies the woman, "he changed my evening stroll from an exercise to an occupation."

It is a story based upon the idea that traveling salesmen throw lots of wild parties when "on the road" and are generally hellacious. An idea, of course, as far from the truth as may be.

The "wild party" is just about true to life, which means it is a sad affair from which, good girls and fellows, deliver us.

One of those comedies about mixed bedrooms, a talking reporter newsreel and a cartoon comedy make up the balance of the program.

Advice: Go see it—you'll more than get your money's worth.

TRIAL OF MRS. CARRAN SHIFTED TO ATLANTA

Merger Plans Changes Scene of Campbell County Murder Case.

FAIRBURN, Ga., Nov. 30.—(P)—Merger plans of Campbell and Fulton counties will shift the scene of the trial of Mrs. Ronie Carran, Jacksonsville (Fla.) woman charged with the slaying of her husband, from Fairburn to Atlanta, it was learned Monday.

Because Campbell county will become a part of Fulton county on Jan. 1, the county attorney said, it was certain Mrs. Carran, who was arrested last September, would not be tried here. The regular term of court does not meet here until February and because of the proximity of the merger date, no special session of court is expected.

In Atlanta Monday, Frank T. Grimes, state's attorney, told Solicitor General Claude Smith in the Carran case, said the case would be tried in Fulton county after the first of the year. He said it had not yet been worked out just where the cases from Campbell county would be placed on the Fulton county docket.

He said there was a possibility also that Mrs. Carran might be removed from the county jail at Fairburn to the Fulton tower here on January 1.

Mrs. Carran was reported fully recovered Monday from a severe recent illness. Sheriff Ed Creel said she had recently suffered from sinus trouble and that medicine a physician prescribed for her contained an opiate, which she had taken off the market. She said he did not know if an overdose of the medicine, taken unintentionally, or some other trouble caused her illness.

Charles Carran, her husband, was found beaten to death near here last September. Mrs. Carran, bound and gagged, lay near by. Fox News said he had been shot in the head and his hand and that the other hand had been attacked by highwaymen. A coroner's jury, however, heard evidence that she had been seen in the vicinity of the slaying with another man the day before Carran's body was found. The coroner asked that she be held as an accused. She has been in custody since.

Mr. Carran and J. Earl Smith of Jacksonville, Fla., were indicted, charged with Carran's death. Smith has not been arrested.

GEORGIA YOUTH DIES OF ACCIDENTAL SHOT

AMERICUS, Ga., Nov. 30.—(P)—Melvin "Red" Vinson, 24, was accidentally killed when a pistol fell from his pocket here Monday. One shot hit the wrist, the bullet punctured Vinson's lung and he lapsed into unconsciousness almost immediately. His home was in Unadilla, and friends of the youth said he was visiting in Americus.

The young man is son of W. G. Vinson of Jacksonville, Fla., who survives him besides two sisters, Mrs. Fred C. Perry of Cordele, and Miss Ruth Vinson, also of Cordele, and an uncle, W. B. Gammage, of Americus. Funeral services will be held from Smyrna church Tuesday morning at 11:30 o'clock, with interment in the church cemetery.

BRIDEGROOM IS FREED ON FORGERY CHARGE

VALDOSTA, Ga., Nov. 30.—(P)—Albert S. Mayhew, young magazine salesman held here on a forgery charge a short time after his marriage, has been freed. He married an Atlanta girl in Griffin last week. He was released after a settlement was effected, court officials said.

WILLIAM PRENDERGAST DIES IN 14-STORY FALL

Native of Savannah, 52 Years Old, Meets Death in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(P)—William C. Prendergast, 52 years old, was killed Monday night when he fell from a window of his apartment on the fourteenth floor of a Fifth avenue hotel as he was attempting to adjust an aerial wire of his radio. He was a native of Savannah, Ga., where his brother and sister live. He is also survived by a brother in Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. Prendergast, who came to the hotel in October and planned to return to Louisville in January, were staying when their radio became silent. He left the table and sought to repair the trouble.

Hotel employees said he had suffered attacks of vertigo and suggested that he had a seizure as he opened the window.

Mr. Prendergast was prostrated by the shock and was attended by a physician.

Mrs. Mary Anne Barrett, of Larchmont, N. Y., whose father is a cousin of Mr. Prendergast, said Prendergast was in the steel business and came from Savannah, Ga.

THE GUMPS—SEE IF I CARE

The Marriage Racket - By VINA DELMAR

INSTALLMENT XXXVII.

"Yeh? What does she wear in the second dance?"

"Black satin trunks and a band up here. Nobody wears bands up here in this place. We dress our girls like the Parisian stage does."

"Yes. Well, this is a Spanish dance. Miss Irma has never danced without proper covering."

Mr. Carroll fixed Irma with a hateful glare and demanded, "What the hell's the matter with all you girls? Why didn't you get work selling notions or something if you didn't expect to show your form?"

"She dances too well to use vulgarity as a means of promoting her work," Carlos said.

"Well, if you'll take a hundred and fifty dollars I'll give you a week's trial."

"You'll give us no week's trial, Mr. Carroll. Come on, Irma, dear."

"What's the matter?" Carroll demanded.

"We want two hundred dollars."

In the end Mr. Carroll agreed to pay a hundred and seventy-five for that week. If their services were rejected after that they were to have a ten-week contract at two hundred.

"Can you start tonight?" Carroll asked.

"Tonight would be grand."

"I've always liked decorating. I've done several apartments, but the competition is too terrible with all the hooded old ladies and bored young girls taking correspondence courses and doing their friends' places."

Then busily back at his sewing again. When he put it aside in favor of eating, she said, "Carlos, I meant to talk to you about money sooner. I told you I have to have a hundred."

"But, look, suppose he keeps us awake. When you're put in the costumes and arranged for the dances, are you going to be satisfied with a fifty-fifty split?"

"Easily, darling. I have my own remedies. You have to buy two pairs of shoes. A pair of black satin and a pair of white satin."

"You didn't fix it with that guy that wasn't to wear anything but shoes, did you?"

Carlos lived in one of the brownstone houses off Broadway. He had a huge basement room filled with an astonishing array of batiks, cubist pictures and sofa cushions.

"Not a bad little place, is it, all the same? It's a week?" Irma asked. "The colors are my own."

"They would be," Irma remarked.

"Now look!" Into a cretonne hung corner of the room Carlos disappeared for a moment. When he emerged he was carrying an exquisite gown.

"O, gorgeous," said Irma. A hundred yards of fine lace must have been used in the skirt. The quiet, simple workmanship on the gown made good the boast that it could not be duplicated under three hundred dollars.

"You will wear it well," Carlos said. "I like dark women in pure white."

"Try it on."

The dress was a trifle large. With Irma's slender figure it easily fitted to Irma's frail form. He reminded her of Aunt Tessie as he kept up a running conversation despite the pins.

"Now, I'll sew this while you run out and buy your slippers. But where with you? Never mind stockings. Carroll will like bare legs and it will save you money. Buy two yards of black satin, too. We have to think about second costume. Get the best grade of satin."

When her salary was paid her at the end of that first week she wrote Bill. Finally, reluctantly omitting her address but inclosing a money order for fifty dollars.

"Dear Bill:

"Here's a tenth of what I owe you. I hope to send another tenth next month. I know you don't need it, but for the rest of part time, you'll understand how that is. I have a job. It's a pretty good one with possibilities of something better arising from it. Everything is fine with me. The baby and I are both in perfect health and you can tell that to whom it may concern. I hope you're well and happy. For you're a swell fellow. Best, IRMA."

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

For coughs due to colds, the best remedy that money could buy easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable quidnunc medicine you ever had. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a medicine bottle and fill up with plain distilled water or sterilized honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this looks after the germs in phlegm and soothes the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe cases which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a palatable sugar syrup or sterilized honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is prompt to give prompt relief or money refunded.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I am a boy twenty-one years old and have been making a living for my mother and myself since I was thirteen years old. People have always tried to please my mother and I have succeeded in every way but one. I like to draw and am considered a pretty fair cartoonist by those who see my pictures. I am anxious to make my drawings profitable but mother thinks that it is utterly foolish to think of earning any money with them. For this reason I have cast aside the idea several times and tried to think of other things, things that my mother approves, but the old love for drawing and the old ambition to commercialize it return. I think of myself drawing pictures that would appear in some large newspapers beside the famous comics. Do you think I should allow my mother's attitude to discourage me?

ANSWER:

Yesterday I walked on a great city street and saw a lean, lank man looking in a shop window. An aimless group of people clotted around him very quickly. "What is the excitement?" "Is he sick?" "What is the excitement?" "It's Rachmaninoff, the great Russian pianist." "He was not even a good looking man, but his presence on a city street caused a flurry of excitement. Why? Because he was different from his fellows in that he had ideas and the gift of expressing those ideas. Those two facts set him above and beyond the average man in the street. Many men have no original ideas but lack the gift of expression. The ones who has both is immediately put on the pedestal and the greater the ideas and the more he can express, the greater the admiration. He who can conceive great musical ideas and writes them into compositions for other men to play. In addition to that gift he has great genius as a pianist and he sits down to the piano to interpret his own thoughts and the thoughts of other great composers and his audience goes into ecstasy over his interpretation, his art, and his technique.

Any boy who has ideas, whether they be comic ones that belong in funny strips, or serious ones, that belong in great canvases, should set them down. He should work at them, for a good facility comes only with hard work. No matter how great the genius, perfection can only be attained in any line of endeavor by hard and faithful work. For that reason I think you would be justified in ignoring your mother's slighting comments on your efforts and justifying in using all your spare time in perfecting your drawing. If you have real talent, no doubt you will be able to express your pictures. If you haven't, you will be able to express your humor and whimsy. You spent up emotions, your stilted childhood dreams and your manly ambition. No mother has any right to put the quietus on her child's artistic taste and talent. Certainly no mother who has lived on life earnings of her son from his early childhood has the right to laugh him out of anything that would contribute to his pleasure, to say nothing of his profit.

Motherhood doesn't give a woman understanding of the ambitions and emotions of her offspring. It doesn't give her the ability to think beyond the confines of her narrow horizon. It should give her sympathy with the aims and purposes of her children despite the fact that she cannot understand them. A young boy ordained to live at home and support his mother is entitled to any outside interests that do not conflict with his duty to her and if she be a wise woman she will cater to him in those interests rather than discourage him by belittling them and ridiculing them.

I was talking to a young professional man last night and he made this comment. "After seeing what I have seen in connection with my work, after having heard the stories of hundreds of patients, I have concluded that any man can get anything in this life provided he is willing to go after it, make the necessary sacrifices to get it, and stick at it long enough. The trouble with people is not that they talk about getting what they want but that they fail to want it sufficiently or do those three things to get it." There is a great deal of truth in his contention. A boy who is playing with the thought of giving up his drawing because his mother ridicules it isn't wedded to it. He is only flirting with it. He is not even engaged to it. He hardly wants it at all. He must want it hard enough to go after it with all his strength and then he will succeed.

I discussed this boy's problem with a painter. He was quite rabid on the subject. Said he: "The artist cannot allow anything to interfere with his urge. Tell the boy to leave home where his mother's influence cannot blast his ambition, or give a cringing quality to his work." That is bad advice, for until there is demonstration of talent and a better proof of serious intention, home is the place for the boy. And if he really wishes to be an artist and is willing to pay the price of hard work, and pay it without expecting remuneration at first, then there are no obstacles at home which he cannot overcome.

Culbertson on Contract

Strategy Versus Strength

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

"They say God is always for the big battalions," the witty Voltaire cynically remarked shortly before the outbreak of the French Revolution. The saying is true. Big battalions have a habit of winning at Contract, also, but it would be a weak Contract strategist indeed who would concede victory unchallenged to the Declares because the defensive forces at his command were weak and inadequate to guard the entire position.

Mr. Culbertson does not require that in order to win a victory you must chase the entire opposing army from its positions. A break through a vital point is sufficient. So in Bridge, good defense consists in utilizing every ounce of strength available. An attempt to deceive the Declares as to the direction of the sometimes many forces arrayed against him, is the basis of sound defensive strategy. Take today's hand:

business, was sentenced to 15 months in the federal prison and fined $500. The charge against the third man in the case, J. R. McCullough, was dismissed during the trial of the others last week.

The trial, South led two rounds of clubs, exhausting East and West. He could see one more probable trick in his own hand. This would hold East to his contract of four spades, but that was not enough. Where was the needed setting trick to be found? The answer had to be South, and realized that ordinary methods would not produce the trick. It could not be won by force, if East had the strength to justify his bid. Force failing, there remained a ruse to confuse the Declares as to the situation in the trump suit if North's holding was such as to give color to the contention. And even though nothing could be lost, but a possible extra trick, so South led the five of trumps. The nine was played from Dummy, North played the Knave and East won with the Ace. Winning this trick, East began a restudy of the hand. He had a Singleton heart. It seemed reasonable to award him the lead by the law of symmetry, that another hand around the table might also have a Singleton. Apparently, South held a Singleton spade; otherwise, East reasoned, he would not lead a low card from such holding as Queen five. In any event, he held the lead and it seemed clear to East that they must both be small ones. East, convinced by his own reasoning, decided against playing for a drop in the trump suit, but led a heart to enter the Dummy and lead a spade through North. When North played the six, East was confirmed in his judgment as to the distribution of the trumps. He finished and South cashed the Queen. Later in the game he won a trick

Tulane, Northwestern, Pitt and Army Considered for Bowl Game

MOVE STARTED TO REVIVE "MINOR" LEAGUE

NORTHWESTERN, TULANE, ARMY, PITT ON LIST

Outcome of Greenies' Game With Washington State Is Important.

By Paul Zimmerman.

Associated Press Sports Writer.
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Although Tulane has moved into the throne seat, it is still open season for the selection of a football opponent for the University of Southern California in the annual Pasadena New Year's Rose tournament game and probably will remain so until next week.

An official silence has existed at the Trojan institution since Northwestern's defeat by Purdue Saturday. While the Big Ten team hasn't been scratched off the list, the Green Wave has swept in more closely to the coveted prize.

TEST GAME.

Much depends on Tulane's showing against Washington State at New Orleans Saturday. Should the Cougars be beaten somewhere near as decisively as they were by Southern California earlier this season, 32 to 6, it is quite likely the invitation immediately will go south again this year.

Northwestern is still in the running, assuming the big conference club wouldn't buy him another one. I remember that hot series in Little Rock where a pitcher might have won the series instead of splitting it. And there wasn't one. And the club broke down in a Nashville series the next week.

It was a good job of work. And he did it with Bob Parham, a green college boy, in right field and a curious collection of misfits in other positions.

Wibur managed Johnstown last season. And played a little ball. He is probably the oldest ball player in active service. He broke in with the Yankees as a pitcher away back there in the early years of the nineties.

He played some great baseball in the majors as an outfielder. And when he came down south he was a terror. It was pretty difficult to get Bill Good out. He had a curious chop at the ball, but he got singles and doubles when the others were getting nothing at all.

And in 1929 when there were no players to be had he stepped out there in right field and played a good game. And he could still hit.

And he can yet. He's been playing ball all fall in Florida. And he told me a story that showed how proud he is of his boy, Bill Good Jr., who is finishing up high school this year and who is—well, he's going to be a ball player, too.

TECH GRID STARS TURN THOUGHTS TO BASKETBALL

Football Marks Time With Slocum, Pool, McArthur, Gooding.

By Jimmy Jones.

Peace and quiet reigned out at the Flats yesterday for the first time since September.

It rained all afternoon and there were no football players around to lend animation to the place. In fact there was such a lack of animation that Mike Chambers dressed up in his best blue serge suit and wandered upstairs.

"It got terribly lonesome out there," was the explanation Mike gave as he was encountered at the Athletic Club, watching Roy Mundorff's basketball team unlimbering itself at the hoops.

Coach W. A. Alexander is in New York and will not return until Wednesday.

Names of those players who will be summoned back to practice Monday at 3:30 p.m. for the game with California were posted out at Tech yesterday and they include the entire varsity squad, along with a number of Mack Tharp's Grey Devils, who as usual, manhandle the cannon fodder for the regular troops.

STALNAKER OUT.

Homer Stalnaker, husky guard, who has been out since the South Carolina game with a broken bone in his leg, was on the list. He will come out for practice, but Mike Chambers said that he would not be able to scrimmage or play against California.

"Somehow it might fall across that leg and then he would be gone, sure enough," Mike said. He must look out for his boys.

THEY DID, TOO.

The answer as gathered from about a score of famous coaches who attended the Army's decisive victory in astonishment, is that "the inspiration ran out" from the combined effects of a stiff schedule and the last-period defeat by Southern California.

As at West Point, Lou Little, of Columbia, picked up the comment when he remarked: "No team and no system would have looked good against the Cadets. It wasn't so much that Army adopted the right tactics but the way they employed them."

WEATHER NO FACTOR.

"I don't think mud and weather had much to do with the outcome. Aggressiveness by the Army was the deciding factor. The Cadets were breaking up plays before they started."

From West Point today came no revelations of secret inspiration or any "inside" explanation of Army's sharp reversal of form.

"It was just another Notre Dame game for us," remarked the Army's official spokesman, quite calmly.

Cochrane Mundorff has about 30 odd boys caring about on the athletic club floor, but very little experienced material. He has Bill Perkins, who led the conference in scoring last year, but he has lost the services of Raines, a good man. Roy says he is woefully short of guards.

Tech will not have a basketball captain this year. There also will be no Christmas holiday trip. The schedule will be announced as soon as it is completed.

Now that football is just about over, intramural sports will have their fling.

Mike Chambers is already lining up his boxes for the annual tournament at the school. He had all of his leather-pushing talent back, including Tarzan Lackey, Max Morris, Ben Cherry, Howie Nutt, Clint Adams and Haven, lightweight champion.

Chamber has been feeling awfully blue since the Georgia-Tech football game. It was the worst football defeat Tech ever suffered at Georgia's hands.

"I think we looked about as bad as we did against Vandy," Mike said dolefully.

"Bill will be ready for professional ball as soon as he picks up some weight, about 20 pounds, I'd say. He'll finish high school and then if he's ready he can go ahead. If he wants to go to college I guess he'll go to Florida, where I can keep an eye on him. And four years of college ball won't hurt him.

"But he's going to be a ball player. He can cover second and he can field. I think the boy is going to be a good ball player."

And I'll bet he will. If he's half as good as his father he will be a great star. He is hitting well. Not with the chopping stroke that Wilbur has, but with the swing they all have since they started swinging at the lively ball. Wilbur Sr. was through Atlanta on his way to Baden and the baseball meeting and the baths there.

BASEBALL INTEREST.

It remains to be seen just how much interest there is in baseball in Atlanta. News from the meeting at West Baden may be expected this week. The season will begin within little more than three months.

Atlanta is a bit cold toward baseball. It will be difficult to awaken the fans after the efforts of last season.

There was a feeling, whether justified or not, that Johnny Dobbs did not get the players he wanted at the time he wanted them because of lack of co-operation. The Atlanta club probably spent less for players last season than any other club in the league. Whatever the facts were there was no doubt but what the team was an uninteresting one to watch.

It is doubtful if even a pennant-winner would draw well this season. At any rate, it behoves the three officials in West Baden, R. J. Spiller, Johnny Dobbs and Chick Roos, owner, manager and secretary, to do something radical. The fans will hardly be satisfied with anything else but a winning club.

PULLMAN, Wash., Nov. 30.—(AP)

The Washington State College football team was en route to New Orleans today, where it is to meet Tulane University team, champions of the Southern conference, next Saturday.

A brief workout at St. Louis Wednesday will be the only stop, according to Coach O. E. Hollingshead. Thirty-four men, including coaches and players, comprise the party.

Miss Waring Takes Qualifying Round

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 30.—(AP) Miss Helen Waring, of New York, won the qualifying round with an 82 in the annual Carolina women's golf tournament here.

Miss Waring, the medalist in the tournament last year, but was defeated in the finals by Mrs. Richard Clemson, of Middletown, N. Y., who today shot an 85 to beat Mrs. Sara Fowles Wadsworth, of Pittsburgh, for second place.

No Mat Card Here Tonight

There will be no wrestling card tonight due to the inability of Matchmaker Henry Weber to line up a match which he deemed worthy of showing here.

"I tried hard but was unable to sign any men up," Weber said when asked of showing in Atlanta."I try to put on only high-class matches. For this reason I decided against what men I could get. I am working on a real card for next week featuring high-class wrestlers."

A mat had been announced for tonight.

Things did not go too well with the internal workings of the Commodores. They may be in need of a dose of disciplinary medicine such as Coach W. A. Alexander administered

KNUTE ROCKNE FORESAW BREAK IN IRISH MARCH

Loss of Key Men Inspired Late Leader's True Prediction.

By Alan Gould,

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)

Knute Rockne, coach of Notre Dame, foretold the break-up of his football forces, checked by Southern California and routed by the Army.

"Don't expect us to keep up the pace we set in the past two seasons," Rockne told the Associated Press at Miami, Fla. "In one of his last chats on football, 'In the first place, we have lost key men like Carride and Brill. Secondly, there's always a reaction to any winning streak that may come at any time. Finally, our opposition in 1931 is going to be unusually tough."

THEY DID, TOO.

Names of those players who will be summoned back to practice Monday at 3:30 p.m. for the game with California were posted out at Tech yesterday and they include the entire varsity squad, along with a number of Mack Tharp's Grey Devils, who as usual, manhandle the cannon fodder for the regular troops.

STALNAKER OUT.

Homer Stalnaker, husky guard, who has been out since the South Carolina game with a broken bone in his leg, was on the list. He will come out for practice, but Mike Chambers said that he would not be able to scrimmage or play against California.

"Somehow it might fall across that leg and then he would be gone, sure enough," Mike said. He must look out for his boys.

THEY DID, TOO.

The answer as gathered from about a score of famous coaches who attended the Army's decisive victory in astonishment, is that "the inspiration ran out" from the combined effects of a stiff schedule and the last-period defeat by Southern California.

As at West Point, Lou Little, of Columbia, picked up the comment when he remarked: "No team and no system would have looked good against the Cadets. It wasn't so much that Army adopted the right tactics but the way they employed them."

THEY DID, TOO.

From West Point today came no revelations of secret inspiration or any "inside" explanation of Army's sharp reversal of form.

"It was just another Notre Dame game for us," remarked the Army's official spokesman, quite calmly.

Cochrane Mundorff has about 30 odd boys caring about on the athletic club floor, but very little experienced material. He has Bill Perkins, who led the conference in scoring last year, but he has lost the services of Raines, a good man. Roy says he is woefully short of guards.

Now that football is just about over, intramural sports will have their fling.

Mike Chambers is already lining up his boxes for the annual tournament at the school. He had all of his leather-pushing talent back, including Tarzan Lackey, Max Morris, Ben Cherry, Howie Nutt, Clint Adams and Haven, lightweight champion.

Chamber has been feeling awfully blue since the Georgia-Tech football game. It was the worst football defeat Tech ever suffered at Georgia's hands.

"I think we looked about as bad as we did against Vandy," Mike said dolefully.

"Bill will be ready for professional ball as soon as he picks up some weight, about 20 pounds, I'd say. He'll finish high school and then if he's ready he can go ahead. If he wants to go to college I guess he'll go to Florida, where I can keep an eye on him. And four years of college ball won't hurt him.

And I'll bet he will. If he's half as good as his father he will be a great star. He is hitting well. Not with the chopping stroke that Wilbur has, but with the swing they all have since they started swinging at the lively ball. Wilbur Sr. was through Atlanta on his way to Baden and the baseball meeting and the baths there.

GIBSON SIGNED

TO PILOT BUCS

Veteran Catcher Gets 1-Year Contract as Ens' Successor.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 30.—(AP)

The managerial reins of the Pittsburgh Pirates were turned over to George Gibson, Mt. Pleasant, Ont., former pilot of the Buccaneers.

Gibson, who succeeds Jewel Evans, released at the close of the 1931 baseball campaign, signed a one-year contract. Evans had relieved Donie Bush.

Gibson assumed the Chicago Cubs five years ago, and since his retirement has been spending his time on his farm near Mt. Bridges.

He managed the Pirates in the spring of 1920, succeeding Hugo Bezdek, now of the Cincinnati Reds. He first saw his lot with the Bucs in 1905 after being purchased in 1904 from the Montreal club of the old Eastern league.

Gibson starred as catcher until the end of the 1915 race, leaving the club in 1916. The next two years he was with the St. Louis Browns.

In 1919 he was manager of the Toronto club of the International league.

He left the Pirates in the middle of the 1922 season, and next year was coach of the Washington Senators. He was manager of the 1924 club, but returned in 1925 as coach under Managers Bill Killefer and Rabbit Maranville, of the Cubs. Gibson retired in 1926 when Joe McCarthy was named Cubs' manager.

WILDCATS DUE FIFTH POSITION IN FINAL RATING

By Paranitau Rice

Running the Blockade.

Tulane Ranked as One of Great Teams of All Time.

By Dan E. McGugin, Football Coach, Vanderbilt University.

(Copyright, 1931, by The Constitution by the American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 30.—Tulane, Tennessee, Georgia, and Alabama finished at the top of the Southern conference season in the order named. Alabama was very strong as the season ended.

There were a lot of good teams. Auburn and Vanderbilt were good enough to provide fine contests with the leaders, but not good enough to win. Maryland was brilliant. North Carolina, South Carolina, Washington and Lee, L. S. U. Duke and others were good and won fine victories over old-time rivals, but Tulane, Tennessee, Georgia, and Alabama were the leaders and in a class by themselves.

Kentucky, because of her consistency and her magnificence, inspired confidence resulting in a tie with Tennessee, entitled to be ranked after the four already named to comprise the big five of the conference for the season of 1931.

Tulane is the undisputed leader, first because she is the only conference institution with an unbroken record of victories and second, because she actually is head and shoulders above everyone else, having one of the country's greatest all-time teams.

MIXED EMOTIONS.

I saw her game with L. S. U. Saturday, and while I had great interest in L. S. U., because her coach, Russell Cohen, as a great Vanderbilt end was a pupil of mine, I thought what a pity it would be if an upset were to mar the record of the Tulane team in which the south has so much pride.

I came to study and appraise the reasons for Tulane's greatness, and came away satisfied.

L. S. U. started the game as an inferior team and remained so throughout, her men playing up to the last measure of their capacity. And while the game was still young and where inspiration enabled men to reach far beyond natural strength and speed, by a novel and skillfully planned offense, L. S. U. held the upper hand both offensively and defensively.

Suddenly, perfectly timed, a pass was seized by Smith at the open end. The goal was reached, the final kicked, and the score was L. S. U., 7; Tulane, 0. Shortly thereafter, Smith was injured, a critical loss.

POISE PERFECT.

The first thing to impress me was the poise of Tulane. Here she stood, before an inspired opponent, her traditional rival. She was a ship in stormy facing a storm. In came Dalrymple, apparently hindered by an injury. Her coaches, Tulane's coaches, calmly and intelligently diagnosed pain, readjusted the defense to meet conditions and situations, steered the ship until presently she shot through the storm, into calm waters, with all engines delivering to capacity and her flag flying high.

Tulane has magnificent personnel, a great line, brilliant ends and six or seven of the finest backs in the game. Fundamentally she has team speed and power. Dawson, Glover, Felts and others at the line of scrimmage and receivers and passers. Tulane has perfection of detail and precision in attack.

Princeton's Outlook.

It would take an adding machine to compute the number of games Princeton has lost in the past year. Last year, Southern California at Los Angeles. Imagine a team which had to meet Yale, North Carolina, Vanderbilt, New York University, Florida, Tulane, Auburn and Georgia Tech still in training for Southern California! If that isn't a season's work you can think up another answer.

The two round-robin series among eight eastern teams will be among the most interesting spots of the year. There should be more action and more chancetaking than any single game has shown when quarterback generalship is to be trifled with. In these two round-robbins they can touch off all the fireworks and let nature take her course.

Tulane is the certain pick for the Bowl of Roses matinee on New Year's Day.

The speed and power of her straight running plays are poison to the strongest and most determined defense. If an opponent has the opportunity to check her straight running plays, she starts something that looks like a straight play, but which ends in a double or triple pass, a lateral or a forward pass, perfectly timed. When you have speed and power you can make everything else go.

And finally, credit must freely be given to Coach Bierman and his assistants. They have a fine group of men to work with, and they are great teachers. They have planned formations and plays adapted to the materials to get the best possible results.

L. S. U. To Revise Athletic Work

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 30.—The athletic department of Louisiana State University will undergo thorough revision after the turn of the year.

Russell Cohen, who has been serving as football coach, athletic director and trainer, will be relieved of two of these jobs, and will wind up either as coach or athletic director. Recently he asked the university authorities to give him help in the campaign to build up the Tiger football squad, which closed the season as "in-and-outers."

Cohen's three-year contract has two more years to run and it is understood there is no disposition on the part of the university to break his contract, but a desire to split up the work to make for more concentrated effort.

L. S. U. was one of the few colleges in the Southern conference where one man was required to shoulder the three jobs, each a difficult task. Governor Huey P. Long, who took an active interest in the development of the university's football team and the L. S. U. alumni were understood to have proposed the revision of athletic duties.

At the opening of the season L. S. U.'s football prospects were ballyhooed to the skies and they beat some strong teams, but they turned around and were beaten by weaker ones.

Gar Wood Plans Attempt on Mark

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Nov. 30.—Gar Wood said today that he expects to take his speed boat, Miss America IX, to the Indian creek race course here within a week for his attempt to break the speed boat racing record now held by Kaye Don of England.

He said five or six days more will be required to service the Miss America IX, which was brought here last week, and to prepare it for the record try.

Olin Johnson, Wood's mechanic, and a factor representative are working on the two 1,100-horsepower motors of the boat in an attempt at perfect adjustment of parts.

Wood said no radical changes are being made in the engines or in the vessel itself.

BULLDOG VARSITY TO FACE ENEMY FORMATIONS ON THURSDAY.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 30.—Two unbeaten teams, each hooked up with a tie, still have the blockade to run before they reach open seas. The two are Tennessee and Southern Methodist and each has a large section of work to handle. Tennessee gets a strong New York University team in New York on Saturday for the semi-final round, and Southern Methodist goes west to face St. Mary's, conqueror of Southern California and California.

These will be tests enough to prove any team's place. Tennessee has two of the country's outstanding stars in Gene McEver and Herman Hickman. McEver is a star back and Hickman is a huge, fast guard who is somewhat reminiscent of Henry of W. & J., another big boy who used to be as fast as his backs.

The Tennessee-N. Y. U. game should be one of the most interesting of the year. N. Y. U. was strong enough at its last start to beat a good Carnegie Tech team and it will be in shape to meet Tulane.

S. M. U. will have all it can handle to get by St. Mary's without having its slate marked up.

LOOKING BACKWARD.

Part of the answer in regard to Notre Dame and Northwestern can be traced back two months. While the world series was under way football was played every Saturday and Sunday, same day, same time, same place. Notre Dame and Northwestern were like two football war camps, getting ready for their big game of October 10. It was impossible for any set of coaches to keep the fire and dash out of early season play. Notre Dame and Northwestern were looking to be the two of the country's strongest teams.

They both were all steamed up from the start of the training season and it isn't in the cards for any team to be far along in early October and still have all the strength left around the last of November.

Football burns out the sides rather quickly at times, and periods of rest along the schedule route are needed for any squad to keep its keenness to the final game.

FEELS WINS RACE IN CONFERENCE.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Nollie Felts, Tulane touchdown ace, whose mid-season spurt put him far ahead of his conference opponents, finished with 87 points, 21 more than his nearest rival, Hillman Holley.

As the teams swing into November, Felts was one point behind Kid Brewster, Duke, who then was leading with 86. Holley, who had been in the lead for three touchdowns, and one point after against Auburn on November 7, to take the lead, and he never was headed. Felts has crossed the enemy goal in every game Tulane has played.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The decline in stocks was broken today

by a rally which Wall Street assumed to be technical, although it was none

the less welcome, especially since it started from a level which was near the October 5 lows.

The advance averaged into a net rise of 2.6 points, the best gain in about three weeks, and was accompanied by an unusually large turn in stock exchange and a weak foreign bond market. Wheat, corn and cotton rallied.

Sterling suffered an extreme drop of about 13 cents to the lowest rate in a decade. The decline was ascribed to the same series of factors which were held responsible for last week's break, including withdrawal of gold balances from London and seasonal considerations. But in addition there were rumors of an impending increase in the Bank of England fiduciary note circulation. It was pointed out, however, that such a move would probably only affect the value of the pound in terms of the Franco-American credit and so would not involve inflation.

The markets face the last month of 1931 with numerous problems awaiting solution. In recent weeks the question of Germany's debts, both private and international, has probably been uppermost in the financial community, but the few economic conferences bearing on those obligations will be watched intently. There are also the railway wage matter and the mounting treasury deficit.

Before the rally several prominent stocks including Standard Oil, Socony,

Standard Oil of New Jersey, Union Pacific,

Baltimore &amp; Ohio, Western Union,

Westinghouse and Radio, touched new lows. Steel, however, climbed from

53 to 57 5-8 and closed at 56 3-4, up

3 1-8. American Telephone was strongly supported, gaining about 4 points to 102. New York Stock had had an extreme advance of more than

4. Atchison's best was a rise exceeding 6 points which was reduced to 3 5-8. Gains of 2 to 3 were numerous in all groups. Sales totals 2,042,459 shares.

Bullish foreign news and Argentinian crop reports brought net gains of 2 1-8 to 2 7-8 cents in wheat.

Corn's improvement amounted to something more than a cent. Cotton fell back considerably from the top but was up 1 to 7 points net.

The decline in sterling was attributed to lack of support and moderate selling by the continent. Business was slow.

BY VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Indications of resistance were visible in a decidedly erratic bond market today. While the utilities and foreign obligations plumped the depths for a number of new low records, the rebounded rails rallied back just before the close, though unable to avert a loss of corporate issues to show a slight gain over Saturday's session. Sales totaled $12,396,000.

The entire foreign list was unsettled by a sharp break in German government bonds.

The irregularity of the rails was exemplified by Baltimore & Ohio losses. While the majority of these advanced, the fs, series D, of 2000, shed 9 points for a new low.

United States government issues were soft, investors apparently awaiting word from Washington on the terms of new financing which must be negotiated to meet heavy December installments.

TRADE TRENDS BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

AUTOMOBILES—New passenger automobile registrations in October numbered 102,630, compared with 124,903 in September and 150,219 in October last year, a compilation by R. L. Polk & Co. shows. The decrease from September amounted to 17.81 per cent, and that from October last year was 31.66 per cent.

DRIED FRUITS—A full annual report by distributors has descended in the dried fruit market. It is expected, however, that there will be a resumption of active trading soon for the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

TIRES—The new schedule of tire prices placed in the hands of dealers by all companies shows a reduction of 10 per cent in first-grade tires and a reduction of 15 per cent on all inner tubes. There was no change in second-grade tires. Truck tires have been reduced 10 to 20 per cent.

CHAIN STORE TAX LAW REAFFIRMED BY COURT

Virginia Warehouse Levy Is Declared Valid by Highest U. S. Tribunal.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(UP)— For the third time in the year, chain stores today read bad news from the supreme court—this time in a decision upholding the Virginia tax on warehouses which distribute to more than one store.

Lawyers of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Company argued their case was different from those decided by the court in approving Indiana and North Carolina chain store taxes.

The court did not think so, however. Chief Justice Hughes, in announcing that the decree of a lower court, which upheld the tax was affirmed, said that the suit was governed by the court's action in the previous cases. There was no written opinion.

The first of these cases to be passed upon, that of Indiana, is precedent now, but it was decided by the narrowest possible margin, 5 to 4.

Like the Indiana tax on the retail stores themselves, the Virginia levy on warehouses is graduated. It mounts with the number of stores served.

The Great Atlantic and Pacific warehouse is located in Richmond. It distributed goods to approximately 190 retail stores in Virginia and nearby states in 1930 and the resulting tax amounted to $6,000.

DECISION IMMINENT ON FALL PAROLE PLEA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(UP)— Decision on the parole of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, has been made by the federal parole board, it was learned tonight. As far as the court's decision will be concerned, parole authorities said.

"A public statement might be made in several days or two or three weeks may lapse."

Fall, now serving a sentence of a year and a day in New Mexico state penitentiary for conviction of accepting oil bribes, was eligible for parole for ten days.

Belief is growing that Fall's parole is virtually assured.
